TRAINING PROGRAM

The Leader as a Coach

The workshop develops excellence and maximum performance through personal and practical reflection. A major focus is that of 'conscious leadership' through interaction tools, techniques and skills, and the experience and understanding of the concepts which empower people to transform the quality of life. As people transform so do organizations. Application of these concepts and skills to real-life situations including current personal and professional challenges prepares leaders for a paradigm shift from 'command and control' to co-creative connection and awareness, emphasizing the importance of being a mentor as well as a team player.

In the workshop participants will:

- Explore and re-create dysfunctional behaviour and mind-sets.
- Be shown techniques to alter the root perspective from which we experience and respond to our thoughts and actions and the situations in which we find ourselves. The focus is on the mastering of the mind 'IQ', the development of emotional and social skills 'EQ', and spiritual intelligence 'SQ'; the power of acknowledgement and deepening the core coaching skills.

By establishing trust, intimacy, accountability and high levels of empathy, presence and awareness, participants will be given the opportunity to take skills of coaching and mentoring to the next level, thus enabling individuals and organizations to move to a place of sustained excellence and maximum potential.
